

AUCKLAND'S HERITAGE COUNTS KEY STATISTICS 2022

Auckland's Heritage Counts programme was established in 2018 to showcase the extent and variety of Auckland's heritage and the social and economic value these places have. Since then, a report has been produced each year. This year's report is a shorter report, highlighting key statistics. Unless otherwise stated, all the statistics are from an analysis of the Auckland Unitary Plan (AUP) Historic Heritage Overlay or from Auckland Council Heritage Unit records.

Heritage is all around us and shapes our identity

At the time of writing, seven historic heritage places and four historic heritage areas are proposed to be added to the schedule through Plan Change 81. Similarly, through Plan Change 82, 99 amendments (such as updating the category status or planning maps of a place) are proposed. The proposed amendments include the deletion and merging of some historic heritage places.

George Court Department Store (former), Newton (Category A, ID 01979) (Rachel Ford, Auckland Council).

Last year, this building received Auckland Council Regional Historic Heritage Grant funding towards the restoration of the building's clock.

The clock is a prominent feature on the street and the only timepiece on Karangahape Road. It has been used since the 1920s by shoppers in the busy retail area. Over the years the clocks inner working has deteriorated and the clock was not keeping good time, now passers-by can be assured that it will be keeping good time for years to come.
